CURRICULUM VITAE Karl Sven Kruszelnicki

PERSONAL INFORMATION

Full Name: Karl Sven Woytek Sas Konkovitch Matthew

Kruszelnicki

Place of Birth: Hålsingborg, Sweden

Address: University of Sydney, Physics Department

(A28), NSW 2006

Telephone: 02-9351-2963, Fax 02-9351-7726,

EDUCATION

Primary School - the Little Flower School in Wollongong, NSW, Sydney Australia.

Secondary School - Edmund Rice Christian Brothers College in Wollongong, NSW, Sydney Australia. Received Commonwealth Scholarship to University.

Tertiary Education

Bachelor of Science in Physics and Mathematics. (B. Sc.) - Wollongong Campus of the University of New South Wales.

Master of Science (Qualifying) in Astrophysics (M. Sc. (Qual.)) - Wollongong Campus of the University of New South Wales.

Computer Science - study as a miscellaneous student at the University of New South Wales.

Master of Biomedical Engineering (M. Biomed. E.) - University of New South Wales

Commonwealth Government Scholarship in 1979 and Lions Fellowship in 1980. Studied under Dr. Peter Gouras in Jan/Feb 1980 at the Columbia University Presbyterian Physician's and Surgeon's Hospital in New York in the field of electroretinography (detecting electrical signals from the human retina). Designed and built an electroretinograph.

Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery. (MB, BS). - University of Sydney.

Awarded Grafton Elliot Smith Memorial Prize for Anatomy in 1982.

Awarded Alexander James Scholarship for Community Medicine in 1984.

Elected Member of the Australian Institute of Physics. (M.A.I.P.).

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Physicist at the Port Kembla Steelworks of Broken Hill Proprietary Limited/Australian Iron and Steel.

Tutor/Research Assistant at the Institute of Higher Technical Education in Lae in Papua and New Guinea. Taught Physics and did research into hair and wool.

Filmmaker One of the first Australians to receive a grant to make films. Worked in 16mm film (colour and black and white) and video. Designed and built own film processing laboratory.

Car Mechanic Was apprentice to a master mechanic. Set up own workshop and repaired automobiles.

Road Manager for various bands, eg, Slim Dusty, Bo Diddley, Bullamakanka Bush Band, Anne Kirkpatrick Band, And Band, Wasted Daze, etc.

Taxi Driver - Drove 250,000 km for Legion Taxis in Sydney.

Scientific Officer in Cardiology Unit at Prince Henry Hospital at Little Bay in Sydney.

Medical Doctor:

Intern at Repatriation General Hospital Concord, NSW.

Resident at Royal Alexandra Hospital for Children at Camperdown, NSW, and Neonatal Intensive Care Unit at John Spence Nursery at King George IV Hospital, Camperdown, NSW.

Academia

1995+ Julius Sumner Miller Fellow, with The Science Foundation for Physics, School of Physics, University of Sydney.

The University of the Sunshine Coast awarded Dr Karl an Honorary Doctorate.

Public Speaking

I speak to school students, the general public, business and academic audiences. Shows are tailored to suit the audience.

Adam Spencer and I criss-crossed Australia for National Science Week (which actually lasted about a fortnight) for many years. We went to each state of Australia, and spoke in capital cities and small regional centres.

In 2002, Adam Spencer and I performed our shows in the UK for the British Association of Science at the University of Leicester. We also did a show at the Royal Institution, where we apparently had the largest audience that they had drawn for many years.

I give an annual presentation in December at the Royal Institution in London (sometimes in September too) and speak annually for New Scientist Live, UK.

I have spoken to international audiences in India, Taiwan, Hong Kong, USA and Malaysia.

Multi Media:

Television:

Television Presenter in the opening series of QUANTUM.

Reporter for the Midday Show with Ray Martin then Derryn Hinch and Kerrie-Anne Kennerley.

Weather and Science Reporter (wrote, produced and presented), for Good Morning Australia.

Script-Writer - Life Be In It - The Body Show and Bright Sparks.

Script Consultant - Lift-Off 2, Sky-&-Space Show and Kiddeo

Part-time reporter weekly for Live-It-Up

Appearances on SBS Medical series Second Opinion - Series I & II.

Regular guest on Sunrise Channel 7, Good News Week, Glasshouse, Today Extra, and various other shows.

Science Commentary Dr Karl's Outrageous Acts of Science, 2017 on Discovery Channel. This 10-part Pop Science series featured me explaining the science behind some seriously mind-boggling experiments, extraordinary inventions and insane stunts found on the net.

Guest on ABC Anh Do's Brush with Fame, 2018

Host ABC Stargazing Live, with by Brian Cox and Julia Zemiro. I hosted Brisbane's biggest Star Party and announced that the 'nationwide attempt to break the Guinness world record for the most people simultaneously observing an object in the night sky through a telescope' had been broken!

Guest on SBS Who Do You Think You Are. My episode was the most watched show in the history of the programme.

Film:

Narrator for the feature film Living Universe. Narrated by me with a voice-over by astrophysicist Professor Tamara Davis, the film explores an interstellar adventure searching for life on another planet.

Radio:

Wrote and presented radio program (on 2JJJ (Sydney) and Radio National ABC), called "Great Moments in Science". This show won two Australian Hi-Fi FM Awards in the Category of Education in 1982 and 1983 and was awarded an honourable mention in 1984.

Wrote and presented radio program called "Expand Your Brain", 2SM (Sydney)

Ongoing, regular guest appearances on Australia wide radio stations both commercial and government networks.

One-hour science talkback on National BBC News Talks show "Up All Night".

Non-Books

"Electroretinography - An Assessment of Techniques", by Karl S. Kruszelnicki, Jackie Joy and E.M. Nicholls, Australasian Physics and Engineering Sciences in Medicine, 1981, Vol. 4, No. 4

I have been writing in many non-book publications since 1987, when I began my very first column in a daily newspaper. I have been a regular columnist for newspapers (Daily Mirror and Sydney Morning Herald) and for magazines (Overlander and Australian Doctor).

I have written monthly columns for National Geographic Kids (Australia and New Zealand) and still write regular columns for Australian Geographic.

Videos

1998-2007 Royal Australian Navy Training Videos, varying from 15 – 65 minutes long (only on DVD)

"Dr Karl's Great Moments In Science" (Video VHS Cassette), ABC Video, Nov. 2002 release. An animated series, featuring live Dr. Karl segments.

"Sleek Geeks Comedy Science" (Video DVD), ABC Video, Nov. 2002 release. A 6-part half-hour series, with fellow Sleek Geek Adam Spencer.

Voice overs on numerous video recordings including Free Range Production animations of Great Moments in Science stories.

Internet

1998 on...

I moved into using the Internet to Popularise Science in 1998. My own homepage is https://drkarl.com/ and my ABC Homepage is www.abc.net.au/science/k2.

In 2000, the ABC site won the Australian Financial Review Internet Awards, Winner of Best Science and Technology Website.

There are five separate podcasts available – the hour-long ABC Triple J Question-and-Answer show, the six-minute long Great Moments in Science on the ABC, and the hourlong Radio 5 Live Question-and-Answer show on BBC Radio 5 live. The ABC podcasts are usually in the Top 20 Podcasts available in Australia.

I had a regular Sleek Geek podcast with Adam Spencer which can be accessed via the drkarl.com homepage.

During the ABC Triple J radio show, the homepage is activated so that listeners from around the world can post their answers to the questions that are asked.

I have my newest podcast Shirtloads of Science also accessed via the drkarl.com homepage.

National Living Treasure (Australia)

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

National Living Treasure is a status created and occasionally updated by the National Trust of Australia's New South Wales branch, awarded to up to 100 living people. Recipients were selected by popular vote for having made outstanding contributions to Australian society in any field of human endeavour.

History [edit]

In 1997 the National Trust of Australia (NSW) called for nominations from the public for 100 Australian Living Treasures, and each nomination was counted as one vote. The nominees had to be living and had to have made a substantial and enduring contribution. The choice of those who were named as National Living Treasures was made by more than 10,000 Australians voting. Their votes determined who was chosen. The first list of 100 Living Treasures was published in 1997. Phillip Adams, himself named as a National Treasure, gave his own opinion in an article on ANZAC Day in 2015 that when the list was first published in 1997, most were amused to find they were nominated; he suggested an alternative list to "celebrate those who make us happy".[1]

In 2004 the list was refreshed with 15 new names, following the deaths of some people on the list and the exclusion of former Justice Marcus Einfeld who was imprisoned subsequent to his retirement for perjury and perverting the course of justice relative to a speeding ticket, [2][3] following an identical process to that used in 1997 – a public nomination and vote.

On 23 January 2012, the National Trust of Australia (NSW) joined with Woman's Day magazine to launch a nationwide search for seven new National Living Treasures. They were announced, amid controversy, on 4 March 2012, when the National Trust refused to endorse the NSW branch's listing of the mining magnate Clive Palmer as one of the members.^{[4][5]} Graeme Blackman, the chairman of the Australian Council of National Trusts, said that "I am telling you, as the chairman, it is not auspiced by the National Trust nationally."^[5] However, the next day it was reported that "trust president Ian Carroll said the titles recognised that the country's culture was more than just our buildings and natural heritage."^[6] It was later revealed that the vote for Palmer had been manipulated, with a number of internal emails having been sent to his company's staff, their family and friends, urging that they vote for "Professor Clive Palmer".^[7]

On 30 July 2014, the board of the National Trust of Australia (NSW) voted to remove Rolf Harris from the list after his conviction on 12 charges of indecent assault between 1969 and 1986 and to also withdraw the award. [8] Harris had been among the original 100 Australians selected for the honour in 1997.

National Trust of Australia

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

The National Trust of Australia, officially the Australian Council of National Trusts (ACNT), is the Australian national peak body for community-based, non-government non-profit organisations committed to promoting and conserving Australia's indigenous, natural and historic heritage.^[1]

Incorporated in 1965, it federates the eight autonomous National Trusts in each Australian state and internal self-governing territory, providing them with a national secretariat and a national and international presence. [2][3]

Collectively, the constituent National Trusts own or manage over 300 heritage places (the majority held in perpetuity), and manage a volunteer workforce of 7,000 while also employing about 350 people nationwide. Around 1,000,000 visitors experience the properties and their collections in Australia each year.^[4]

History [edit]

Modelled on the National Trust for Places of Historic Interest or Natural Beauty and inspired by local campaigns to conserve native bushland and preserve old buildings, the first Australian National Trusts were formed in New South Wales in 1945, South Australia in 1955 and Victoria in 1956; followed later in Western Australia, Tasmania and Queensland.^[5]

The driving force behind the establishment of the National Trust in Australia was Annie Forsyth Wyatt (1885-1961). She lived for much of her life in a cottage in Gordon, New South Wales, which is still standing. She was living in the Sydney suburb of St Ives when she died.

In 1975, the National Trust moved into the former Fort Street High School building on Observatory Hill, after the girls' school moved to Petersham to be reunited with the boys' school, which had moved in 1916. The distinctive building, which retains its appearance from the time of its conversion to a school in 1849, is visible from the approaches to the Sydney Harbour Bridge.
